The friends of Rev. Carlyle Branyon, formerly of Anderson County, will rejoice to hear of the wonderful meeting which he has recently held at the "Old," or First Church of Carnesville, Ga., of which he is the pastor. Miss Polly A. Callahan died at the home of her brother, Mr. J. R. Callahan, in this county, on Wednesday, 10th inst., after an illness of about eight months. She bore her sufferings with the patience characteristic of a faithful Christian. She was a member of Bethany Church, where her remains were buried on the day after her death. Rev. N. G. Wright conducting the funeral in the presence of many sympathizing friends. The deceased leaves four brothers and three sisters to cherish her memory.

Governor McSweeney has had reports made up for the last quarter and the reports show that the thirty-four constables now are making more cases and seizing more liquor than did the fifty-nine constables previous to his term. The relative cost is as fifty-nine is to thirty-four. In J. R. Pant's district, which includes Anderson, $1,335 in fines were imposed for July only and eighteen parties convicted served sentences. In June ten served sentences for violating the dispensary law and in May four. The biggest work was done in Pant's and LaFar's districts as shown by the report.

The monthly reception of the Epworth League was held at the residence of Mr. J. M. Payne on Friday evening. The League and guests were pleasantly entertained by the committee, who had arranged an interesting program. A novel feature of the evening was a grab bag, from which the guests were requested to draw and make a rhyme of four lines on the article, which was the occasion of much merriment when the prizes began to sing. Delightful refreshments were served, and the League is indebted to Mrs. Payne for being entertained in the hospitable manner characteristic of her.

In the death of Mrs. Margaret J. McDaniel, widow of the late Henry J. McDaniel, another good woman has been called to the better land to receive the rewards of a blessed Saviour, whom she faithfully served throughout life. Her death occurred on Sunday morning, 13th inst., after a long and painful illness, in the 69th year of her age. Mrs. McDaniel was most highly esteemed by a wide circle of friends and relatives, who deeply sympathize with her friends in their bereavement.

Her remains were interred in the Hopewell churchyard, Rev. W. B. Hawkins conducting the funeral services.

Mr. A. A. Carpenter died at his home in Broadway Township last Monday morning, in the 51st year of his age. He was sick about ten days with malarial fever, but his illness was not considered serious until a short time before his death. His wife preceded him to the grave about seven months ago, and by his death four children are left orphans, his oldest son being a student at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point. Mr. Carpenter was the youngest son of deceased John Carpenter, and was born and reared and always lived in the section where he died. He was the proprietor of what is known as the old Smith mill, on Broadway Creek, and was a worthy citizen. He was a faithful member of the Wesleyan Methodist church, and was highly esteemed by his friends, who will be pained to hear of his death. His remains were interred yesterday morning at Neal's Creek church, Rev. J. D. Mahon conducting the funeral services.

The Darlingtonian of the 17th inst. says: "The sheriff yesterday sold the entire stock of drugs, medicines, &c., belonging to C. M. Barton & Co. to the Gear Drug Co. Immediately after the sale Mr. E. R. Cox purchased the entire stock and will shortly open a drug store on the east side of the square in the vacant store building between the book store and Wells' shoe store. The new establishment will be under the management of Mr. J. O. Muldrow. This will make the third drug store in Darlington, and all of them are first-class, up-to-date establishments. Mr. Cox is a member of the firm of Moorhead & Cox and was first lieutenant of Company "A" of the 2nd regiment, serving in Cuba. Everybody who knows him knows that he is a thorough-going business man and will make a success of this new undertaking." Mr. Cox is a native of Anderson County, and his many old friends will be more than pleased to hear of his success in his adopted home.

Anderson County has lost another good citizen in the death of Mr. Albert M. Jolly, which occurred at his home in Hopewell Township last night at 11 o'clock. He was ill only about a week, and the announcement of his death was a great shock to his many friends. Mr. Jolly was about 70 years of age, and was a son of the late Henry Jolly. He was born and raised and always lived within a half mile of the home where he died. He was a most estimable citizen—in fact, Anderson County never had a nobler, more upright, conscientious man. He had long been a devoted member of Hopewell Baptist Church, whose vacancy there will be hard to fill. He was a very successful farmer, and a man who attended strictly to his own business. He served his country faithfully throughout the civil war. His bereaved widow, six daughters and four sons, who are left to cherish his memory, have the sympathies of a wide circle of friends. The remains will be interred at Hopewell Church this afternoon.

Mr. Abner C. King died at his home in Hopewell Township last Saturday morning at 9 o'clock, and the announcement of his death was a great shock to his many friends, as he was sick only a few days with brain fever. Mr. King was 57 years of age, and was the third son of the late George D. King and a brother of P. F. King, the Steward of the County Pauper's Home. The deceased was a brave veteran of the "Lost Cause," having served throughout the war in Co. F, Jenkins' Brigade. He had long been a devoted member of Whitefield Baptist Church, and when the Angel of Death came he was ready to answer the summons. He was a most obliging, kind neighbor, and in his immediate community he will be greatly missed. He was one of a family of eleven children, and only two brothers survive. He was also the father of eleven children, all of whom, with a devoted wife, are left to cherish his memory. On Sunday afternoon the remains were interred in the Salem churchyard, Rev. E. Z. Brown conducting the funeral services in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

Last Thursday Gen. M. L. Bonham went down to Ninety Six, where he had been invited to deliver an address before Camp Larkin A. Griffin Sons of Confederate Veterans. The Ninety Six correspondent of the News and Courier, in speaking of the address, says: "He paid a glowing tribute to the bravery and patriotism of the Veterans, and spoke of the privations and hardships which they endured for four long years fighting for an undying principle. He told of the genius of our great generals, Lee, Jackson, the Johnstons and others, and cited some of the great victories against overwhelming numbers, backed by a great government and the world. His address was a masterly piece of oratory, and was warmly applauded. At the close of his address he was presented with a beautiful bouquet by Miss Hattie Curtis, sponsor of the camp, which he accepted very gracefully. He urged that the sons of Confederate veterans join the organization in order that the story of the struggle may be perpetuated, and that a true history may be written, setting forth clearly the principles involved for which their fathers fought."

Mr. Nimrod T. Smith, one of Anderson County's oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, died at his home in Garvin Township on Thursday, 17th inst. He had been sick about six weeks, and he and his family realized from his first day's illness that his disease would prove fatal. He was perfectly resigned and patiently awaited the summons. Mr. Smith was 82 years of age, and was born and reared, and with the exception of two years, spent his life in Anderson County. He was an energetic, successful farmer, with firm convictions and an agreeable disposition, having the confidence and good will of all his friends and acquaintances. His life was an exemplification of the golden rule, "do unto others as you would have them do unto you." He served the Confederacy throughout the war in the 22nd South Carolina Regiment, and was a brave, faithful soldier. He leaves six sons and five daughters, and in their bereavement we join their many friends in extending our sympathies. On Friday the remains were buried at Sandy Springs, the funeral services being conducted by Rev. J. F. Singleton.
